Digitalisation

The digital revolution is well under way. In a highly competitive market new business models are always being developed and existing processes are continually being challenged. Groups, medium-sized businesses and start-ups are all looking for the best possible ways to position themselves in this environment. In this way, new, innovative forms of cooperation are constantly being created. Luther.Solutions

In the field of legal services, digital building blocks have already frequently proven to be an important element for efficient, innovative client or project work. The digital transformation also poses new challenges for corporate legal departments: they must provide legal support for the change process within the company and proactively shape their own transformation.

With its four solution areas – Legal Process Management, Legal Tech, Legal Project Management and Managed Legal Services – Luther.Solutions provides support in all phases of the upcoming transformation of the legal sector, from strategic dialogue to process and organisational design, the use of legal tech solutions or the design of new forms of cooperation.

Luther.Solutions supplements our law firm's legal practice areas and portfolio of services to include digital solution modules (Legal Tech), elements and methods for designing workflows and processes (Legal Process Management) and Legal Project Management.

The Luther.Solutions team helps design efficient processes through the use of innovative, digital solutions when carrying out client work.

Luther.Sustainability

Sustainability

As an internationally active company, we see ourselves as part of the global community and feel we have a responsibility to ensure our corporate strategy is sustainable. Aware that all our actions have an impact on sustainability, we are working towards this goal internally on the one hand by consequently pursuing sustainable values in our teams - to which we are committed beyond our corporate goals - and on the other, by pursuing these claims in particular externally. Diversity and equal opportunities as well as social commitment, be it with pro bono clients or the promotion of social projects, are just as important to us as our defined goal of being carbon neutral by 2030.

Diversity

As a company with an international workforce, the cultural diversity of our employees is a matter of course for our law firm. Gender, nationality, ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age and sexual orientation shape the individuality of every person. At Luther, we find this diversity enriching both for our work and in our personal interaction. We are committed to creating a working environment that is free from prejudice and which shows respect and appreciation and brings prestige to every employee.

Luther showed its commitment to promoting a working environment which is free of discrimination and unequal treatment by becoming one of the first law firms to sign the German Diversity Charter (Charta der Vielfalt) in 2010. This initiative advocates for an appreciative and unbiased working environment and promotes diversity in the work place.

Equal opportunities

The provision of equal opportunities is a key focus of our human resources policy. Almost 60% of our employees are women. We are constantly looking for ways to improve career conditions for female employees and increase their share in management positions. Luther also consistently ensures equal pay for men and women for equivalent work and performance.
